

Quests

Home away from home; or is it? We all miss Black Rock City, the place we call home, but maybe we can find home somewhere else too! We also want to get home as soon as possible. Maybe Google maps will help us find the shortest way there! As air travel is very risky in this current climate, cars are your only means of transportation. This is your chance to be a true Road Warrior! The answer to this quest is the number of total miles (rounded to the nearest whole number) of the shortest possible driving route between places we call home in the USA (given by a hint and general coordinate) listed below, from the starting to ending destinations.

Starting destination- Home of the Big Apple

Cross hairs: Black Rock Forest Main Parking Lot

Finish destination- Home of the Functional Nightmare Agency in 2018

Cross hairs: Check a clock
